

RU-tv Stories

Molly Rich is a junior at Rutgers majoring in Journalism and Media Studies with a specialization in Sports Journalism, and is minoring in History and Cinema Studies.

What's one interesting fact about yourself?

I run a "Boy Meets World" tumblr which has over 18,000 followers.

What is your role at RU-tv? What does it entail?

I am a production crew member, which means my job is to go on shoots and edit videos for our channels. I recently became an edit mentor, which means I train the new production members on our editing software.

Why did you choose to come to RU-tv? (Is it related to your major?)

I chose to come to RU-tv because I have always been interested in working in television production, and was a part of my high school TV station. I cherished the experience I had there, and thought it was a great opportunity to continue the same type of opportunity here.

Why did you choose to come to Rutgers?

Rutgers has always been a family school. My dad did his undergraduate and Masters here, while my mom got her Masters here as well. Both of my older sisters came here, so it was almost a no-brainer as to where I would end up in school.

What do you hope to do after you graduate?

After I graduate, I hope to work for a sports television network, preferably the MLB Network. Eventually, I would like to go back to school and become a teacher.

How will your work at RU-tv help you in the future?

My work at RU-tv will help me in the future because I'm familiarizing myself with a lot of equipment that I wouldn't be using on my own. I also am getting more hands on work especially when it comes to shooting, interviewing, and editing.

What is your favorite part about working at RU-tv?

My favorite part about working at RU-tv is being able to interact with people who are interested in the same field as I am.